THIRTY-FIFTH YEAR. NO. 4.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 26 1912.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

NOTES ABOUT THE POLITICIANS.

The political sensation of the week has been Mr. John H. McVay's announcement that Mrs. Carrie Flatter, president of the W. C. T. U. in the county, had endeavored to force him out of the race for county treasurer by declaring that the organization's strength would be thrown to Prof. R. S. Harmon of Jamestown. Mr. McVay, having made two successful campaigns as an ordinary director was not bluffed by such methods and states that he is in the fight to stay. The facts are that all the candidates and others posted on the situation realize that Mr. McVay is the man that has to be beaten. His long connection as bookkeeper with Hutchison and Gibney and also the Xenia National Bank, his success in the office of infirmity director, coupled with his insurance and real estate business, has given him a prestige that makes his position strong in the race for treasurer. Again, as a dry candidate, there are none drier than John McVay and this can be attested to by his active work in the United Presbyterian church. Many of the McVay friends have been friends of the W. C. T. U. but they openly denounce such "boss" methods. If Mrs. Flatter is to be a representative of woman's suffrage, the movement will not be assisted to any extent by her methods of endeavoring to force Mr. McVay out of the race by declaring that 1,700 votes will be used against him. This thing of reformers and gangsters claiming that they can control so many hundred votes is an insult to the electorate of the county. It might do over in Adams, but in Greene, never!

It has been amusing to note the various actions of the members of the constitutional convention. "Rev." Bigelow, the chairman, appointed the committee and now comes a howl from Drs. Fess and Ellexon, college presidents, that the committee have been packed, especially the temperance committee. We have noticed at various times that it was only by Dr. Fess' insistent refusal that he was not chosen president over Bigelow. There was no hope at any time of electing Dr. Fess as head of this body from the fact that the liquor interests dominate the majority and the appointments prove this fact. The convention will from all indications, unless the vote get divided, report the license clause.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to thank the many friends and neighbors that so kindly assisted during the sickness and death of my wife. Also those who gave the many beautiful floral remembrances.

Oscar Satterfield.

NOTICE.

On and after Thursday Jan. 30, '12 Mr. Harvey Myers will have charge of the wagon of the Cedarville Dairy. He will make prompt delivery of pure, clean, milk produced from young healthy cows fed on as nearly a balanced ration as we know how to feed. Does quality count? We believe it does. The quality of milk is easily impaired, we will make the memory of quality linger long after the price is forgotten.

Please be prompt in putting out your empty bottles. Thanking you for past favors and your patronage.

Respectfully
Andrew Winter.

Institute Opens Monday Morning.

The following program has been prepared by the officers of the institute and the public is asked to attend the various sessions. As will be seen the program is complete and full of interesting subjects and it is for the people to take active part and get the best that is in them. The officers alone cannot make a good institute but must have the cooperation of the people by attending and taking active part in the various discussions. Excellent literary and musical numbers have been provided.

Death Of Prof. E. B. Cox.

After more than thirty years of faithful work in the Xenia public schools, Prof. Edwin Bruce Cox, finished life's work early Monday morning after a short illness of heart trouble. Some time back he was brought into the limelight by a newspaper exposure and it is claimed by friends that this worried him into his final sickness and death.

The deceased was a trustee of the First M. E. church in Xenia and one that stood high in Masonry. He is survived by a wife and three children.

The funeral took place Thursday morning from the church, the schools, the business houses, court house and several of the churches closing for the funeral. As an educator the deceased was one of the foremost in the state and held several positions of high honor in the educational world.

Findlay Defeats Ced. Varsity.

Friday, January 19th, the Cedarville quintette met the Findlay aggregation on Findlay's floor and were unsuccessful to get the big end of the scores due to the large floor, open end, the nervous condition of the players after experiencing a rail road wreck on their way.

January 28th, the Findlay bunch met Cedarville here and the home team have determined to show Findlay what basket ball is. In spite of the fact that the knockers club is frequently in session, Cedarville College can play ball. It is easily understood that the ones that are doing the knocking know the least about basket ball. Nevertheless we appreciate their presence at the games. This game will not be called until the close of the lecture at the R. P. church which is to be given by Mr. Garbold at 7:00.

This will give all an opportunity to hear the fine lecture and also see the big game of the season. Cedarville boys are determined to win but only thru fast and clean basket ball Friday night. Everybody come out and show their loyalty to dear old Cedarville College B. B.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Maude Satterfield, daughter of James and Mary Andrews, was born near Cedarville, Ohio, March the ninth 1870. Had her life been spared until March ninth, she would have been thirty-six years old. In 1902 she was married to Mr. Oscar Satterfield, who with her father and mother, three brothers, Duff and Earl Andrew, of Cedarville; Frank Andrews, of Goose Station, Ohio; Grace and William McFarland, of this place, mourn her departure.

One year ago last November she was converted to the Lord; since which time her faith in Him, in sickness and pain has supported her. Although she longed to get well yet her desire was "Thy will, O Lord be done."

For days those who were close to her knew the end was near. Sabbath afternoon she was not, for God took her. We mourn, but she rejoices. Let us look to the great Comforter for consolation.

REV. GARBOLD IS COMING.

Rev. R. P. Garbold will give an illustrated lecture on Japan and his work there, to-night at 7 o'clock, in the R. P. church, Main street, and to-morrow night at 7:30 o'clock, in the same place. He will preach Sabbath morning in the United Presbyterian church and Sabbath night in the R. P. church. The service Sabbath night is a union meeting to which all the churches are invited. The admission Friday and Saturday nights will be 15 cents. All the money taken at these lectures, except the expenses for lighting and heating, will go to Foreign Mission Work in Japan.

The lecture Friday night will be over in time to allow all, who desire to go to the big basket ball game, to read this again and arrange to attend all these meetings.

Second Semester To Open.

The second semester of the eighteenth year of Cedarville College will open in the chapel at College Hall, next Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The exercises will consist of vocal solos by Prof. Siegler and music by a male quartette and the address of the day by Rev. Taylor on Foreign Immigration. The classes will be organized for the work of the semester. Several new students are expected.

No-License Convention.

Columbus, Jan.—There is much interest throughout the state in the No-License Convention called for Columbus, January 29-30. Indiana came from all over Ohio as delegates are coming from churches, Sunday schools, Women's Christian Temperance Unions, granges, young people societies and other temperance, reform and good government organizations. It is anticipated the Convention will take strong action against any kind of a license clause being submitted by the Constitutional Convention, but if such a clause is submitted the Convention will demand that it contain a number of restrictions and that the alternative be either state-wide prohibition or prohibition outside the five large cities. Anti-liquor leaders will be present not only from all over Ohio but from other states. The Convention is being carefully watched by liquor men and by all the Constitutional Convention delegates.

THE FEBRUARY WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION.

The February Woman's Home Companion contains a remarkable short story entitled "The Way," by Juliet Wilbur Tompkins. It is a story that has aroused a tremendous discussion over the question as to how much of a sacrifice one woman could or would have the right to make for her friend who is in trouble.

In the same number there are several articles worthy of special comment. One, entitled "The Open Market in Des Moines," is a report of a movement in Iowa which has already reduced the cost of living in several cities and towns of that state and seems to offer a suggestion to many other communities. It is an article of universal interest and importance. Another valuable article in the February Companion is one entitled "The Girl With A Voice," in which a professional opera singer gives a graphic account of the long road that young women must travel who seek a musical career. It is an article filled with facts about actual cases. Other interesting articles in the number are: "The Little Princess," a character sketch of the only daughter of the Emperor of Germany; "The Lost Aphrodite of Knidos"; "Outdoor Photographs at Fight"; "Sweethearts and Wives"; "The Healthy Baby"; and a sermon by Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle in New York City.

The dressmaking and housekeeping departments are, as usual, filled with interesting facts and practical suggestions. Grace M. Gould, who conducts the fashion department, contributes an article this month entitled "What Men Are Wearing."

—All coal, wood and gas heaters at cost to make room for other stock. C. M. Crouse.

Bachelor's Club--S. Main St.--Beware! A SOLILOQUY.

To do't or not to do't,—that is the question; Whether 'tis better for my peace of mind to suffer The taunts and gibes of these small minded creatures, Or boldly put an end to this suspense so wearing, By getting married this Leap Year? To do't—to marry, Ah me! and by the deed, to say I'll end This heartache and the thousand innuendoes I hear all day now—'tis a consummation Deviously to be wished. To marry—to double up—To double up—perchance, to make it worse; ah, there's the rub; For in that doubling process, am I not to think Both woes and sorrows are doubled; salary, cut in two? This makes one pause, there's the thing That makes calamity of a long life. Yet, who would bear remarks that cut; from some, Those pitying smiles, or see the girls and boys Pair off, leave me forlorn; this loneliness, This ache of heart and all the blows A patient spinster, from the unworthy, takes When she herself might a new world create By popping the question? Who would kittens pet, Drink tea alone through all the weary years, But that the dread of something afterward, That undiscovered country, of whose state No traveler reports, puzzles the will, And makes us rather bear the ills we have Than fly to others that we know not of. This indecision does make cowards of us all; And thus we pine, alone, for fear that then,—The knot once tied,—regret may be our lot; Forgetting oft that love the greatest is Of all earth's blessings, and joys of wedded life Are far beyond compare.

—A MAIDEN.

SNARED BY A TRUST.

It Was a Nice Little Family One, and He Couldn't Beat It.

"Owing to a railway smashup I got left in a little town one night a year ago," said the commercial traveler, "and the way I came in contact with a trust almost made my hair stand on end.

"It was a wretched town and a still worse hotel. My room was small, and the bed was as hard as a board. I got up feeling mad, and, after a miserable breakfast, I was ready to boil over. The boiling came when the landlord presented me with a bill of $4.

"Is this correct?" I asked as I look at the figures.

"Entirely so," he replied.

"Then you are an old highway robber."

"The landlord had three sons, and when they began to take a share in the alteration I turned on them and made a number of fiery remarks. When I stopped for breath the old man, who turned out to be a justice of the peace, sat down in a chair and calmly announced:

"Hear ye! Hear ye! I now declare this court duly opened. James, have you any business?"

"I have," replied his eldest son, who announced to me that he was a constable and that I was under arrest. He then made a charge against me. One of the other brothers testified as to my language, and his honor fined me $10. As the third brother hadn't taken any part I turned to him and sarcastically asked:

"Where do you come in?"

"Me?" he replied. "Oh, I'm the local marshal, and as you are evidently a desperate character I shall lock you up for a couple of days and then run you out of town."

"It was a nice little family trust, you see," smiled the commercial traveler, "and I couldn't beat it. I was locked up for forty-eight hours, but I had to pay the hotel bill and the fine, and when I was at liberty and got my mouth open to say something else the jailer laid a hand on my arm and whispered:

"Don't do it. I am the old man's son-in-law, and if you kick against my jail he'll make your next stop twenty days."—Boston Herald.

Bancroft's 61st annual fur clearance sale opens Saturday, January 27th.

Alleged "sales" are continuous performances at many stores. We reduce fur prices but once a year but when we do the cuts are real and deep enough to make a saving worth while.

Many have learned to wait for this annual sale knowing both the unquestioned quality of the merchandise offered and the absolute honesty of the reductions.

We are Springfield's only experienced furriers. Whatever you buy we guarantee shall be exactly as represented and shall prove satisfactory in wear.

This sale includes everything in our $25,000.00 fur stock—every fur that's fashionable—every style that's correct in muffs, neckpieces, coats, children's furs, men's furs lined overcoats, etc.

We are members of the Merchants' Association and refund your round trip fare on purchases of $15 or over.

NEWS READ YEARS AGO.

The following may be of some interest in that the items were taken from the files of the Herald as published May 1891.

May 2, 1891.

Mr. James Currie, who has an interest in the American Hominy Flakes works at Yellow Springs, has started a mill in Springfield for the manufacture of another specialty of his own invention. His brother-in-law Mr. S. C. Anderson, will join him in the enterprise.

Miss Georgia Charters, the child wistler from Xenia, will give an entertainment in the opera house, May 8th.

Will Elrick has gone to Elkhart, Ind., where he taken a contract to erect 35 dwellings for a company operating a glass factory.

Mr. D. M. Dean met with a very serious accident Thursday evening during the wind storm. He was at his barn attending to some stock when the door was blown violently shut, striking him on the head and inflicting a cut three inches long and knocking him senseless.

Word from Anderson, Ind., is that Mr. O. H. Townsley, formerly of this place, proved to be a great scrapper when a couple of bums entered the post office, where he acted as mailing clerk, and began to start trouble. Mr. Townsley did not care to have trouble with the visitors but upon ordering the fellows out, was slapped in the face. A right hander sent No. 1 up against the building and a left hander sent No. 2 into the gutter.

Mr. James Holmes, who resides south of town, had his right hand terribly mangled by a dog last Tuesday. Mr. Holmes at the time had nothing with which to defend himself and was forced to grapple with him until he was choked. Later his son, Ed, arrived and with a strap held the dog until it was killed.

The school board elect the following teachers Tuesday evening: J. H. Sayres, supt., Lena Gilbert, Rosa Stormont, Emma Blair, Minnie Owens, and Amelia Miller. No colored teacher was elected as there were no applicants. John Ross was elected janitor.

Sheriff Dadds has closed out the Oram stock of goods, the sale amounting to about $1,200.
